Driving directions from Downtown Flagstaff (make sure you have the site gates lock combinations before you leave town!)

From Flagstaff take I-17 south then the first exit to Sedona via Hwy 89A. At what the locals call the 'Y' (the first major junction) go right at the two funky roundabouts & head on the dual carriage way towards West Sedona. In approx. 3 miles (after Coffee Pot Drive, Rodeo Drive, Andante) just when you seem to be almost on the edge of town, you'll see the Dry Creek Road (there are traffic lights there) – turn Right and go approx. 2 miles. Turn Left onto the Boynton Pass Rd and continue for approx. 2 miles. Turn Left again (signed as the Boynton Pass Rd) and in about another 2 miles the road turns from paved to dirt. Stay on this main gray gravel dirt road (past Bear Mountain Rd) for about 2 miles until you reach a T-junction. Turn Right here – it is signed towards Honanki & Palatki Ruins – then in a few hundred yards take the Left fork onto the red dirt road 525D (signed to Honanki Ruins). This will take you up and over a small hill – go slowly, the road is extremely rough. Cross the top of the hill & proceed slowly down the other side. At the bottom of the hill, after a few turns of this road you'll see the SEGA plot – turn right and enter via the green gate. Make sure you have the SEGA lock codes with you (they are not given here, as this info is on the web – only SEGA-related personnel should be given the lock codes).

General Information:

This site is on USFS land (Red Rock Ranger District). If you meet Forest Service personnel explain what you are doing. You also may see people flying drones in this area – this is illegal due to the fire hazard if one crashes – with such people OR anyone else showing damaging behavior in the vicinity, discretely take their vehicle license plate number and report them to SEGA project staff on your return to NAU. DO NOT EVER approach anyone directly in such cases.
